

CONTENT YOU CAN RELY ON

Atlanta Jewish Life connects the dots between modern Jewish culture and politics, between spirituality and the people practicing it. Our stories are rich and engrossing. Our pages are vibrant and colorful (and glossy). In other words, we find all that's interesting and present it to you in an equally compelling format. That's our editorial commitment, and you can hold us to it.

Our regular coverage of all things Jewish culture includes book reviews galore, insights into the best Jewish contributions in music, musings on food and style, and regular tidbits from the cultural fringe. We'll even take you to the playhouse where Jewish theatre is thriving.

Each issue includes a thought-provoking essay on society, culture and their myriad intersections. And because we believe people are as fascinating as any topic, we always find the most interesting Jewish Atlantans you've never heard of in our Encounter section.

Sure, that'd be enough for most magazines, but for us it's only the first half of the book. In addition, Atlanta Jewish Life brings you the very best in-depth features you can find. From the Jewish Radio Mafia to comedian Jerry Farber, we've made a habit out of the best writing on the best subjects in this town.

And there's plenty more to come. ►►

HOW WE LAY OUT THE MAGAZINE

Front Half of the Book

- > Culture Awards: The most remarkable things in Jewish culture.
- > Books: Authors you should be reading.
- > Music: We examine the trends in Jewish music.
- > Theatre: We sample the best in Jewish drama.
- > Food: Musings on food and the kosher wine of the month.
- > Essay: Our thought-provoking look at society and culture.
- > Encounter: A mini-profile on the most extraordinary people.

Back Half of the Book

- > Our long feature stories focus heavily on Jewish culture, specifically on stories related to arts and culture. This includes profiles of Jewish celebrities, authors, etc.
  - > We also cover trends (like Jewish dating) and issues that are particularly compelling (the rise of Jewish Republicans, for example).
- Final Pages
- > Events: We recap in photos local events in the Jewish community. Feel free to send along your own event photos for our next issue.
